Total Expense Ratio Definition: Total Expense Ratio (TER) expresses the expense ratio for a sub-fund or a type of share against the average NAV (of the sub-fund or unit respectively) over a given period in the past. The TER should reflect the past record, and should not be an estimate for the present or future. In other words, the TER is the annual percentage reduction in investor returns that would result from operating costs if markets were to remain flat and the fund's portfolio were to be held and not traded during a period.

^{} The high-water mark unit price is the unit price that Elevation Capital Management Limited is required to exceed before receiving a performance fee. The high-water mark is currently well above the performance fee benchmark because prior to the fund merger with the former Elevation Capital Multi Strategy Fund (which occurred 30 September 2011), the Elevation Capital Value Fund had a performance fee of NZ CPI + 5% per annum. At the time of the fund merger the Manager sought Unitholder approval to change the performance fee benchmark to an equity market benchmark (MSCI World Value Index + 2% per annum) but the Manager did not request a reset of the previous high-water mark.
